THE FIRST ORGANIC VINEYARD
IN ROMANIA

RO-ECO-007
Agricultura UE

Domeniile Franco-Romane (DFR) represent the vision of the winemaker Denis Thomas's to create Romanian wines with a French touch, inspired by the terroir of Dealu Mare. Transitioning to organic farming in 2003, DFR achieved certification for Romania's first organic wine in 2006. Today, DFR is under the ownership of the Olariu family, Romanian investors, who have expanded it by incorporating 40 hectares from "Domeniile Persu-Eminescu," a vineyard area with historical significance. This land has been in the possession of Mihnea Olariu's great-grandparents, Alexandru Persu and Ecaterina Eminescu, since the 1840s. Alexandru Persu was an agronomist engineer and former mayor of Tohani commune, while Ecaterina Eminescu was the granddaughter of the greatest Romanian poet Mihai Eminescu. Retroceded to the Olariu family in 2002, this addition complements the original vineyard started by Denis Thomas.

GALERON

Galeron range is a celebration of excellence and the francophone tradition that links Romania and France. These special wines are the result of organic viticultural practices and a passion for premium wines. This range is a tribute to the French architect Albert Galeron, who built, between 1886 and 1888, the Romanian Athenaeum, one of the most important landmarks of modern Bucharest.

Collection Galeron	Volume	Price in EURO
Chardonnay, white dry barrique organic wine, 14%, 2023 	0.75l	7.50
Feteasca Neagra, red dry wine, blend from 2021, 2022 and 2024, 14.5%	0.75l	9.00

ARROGANCE

If you look at her, the mythological Medusa instantly turns you into a stone pillar. She has wings, snakes for hair and looks like a fallen angel. To see Medusa in her true evil splendour, you would have to travel to Florence, where Benvenuto Cellini's masterpiece is in Piazza Della Signoria. Much easier, however, you can see it on the labels of the Arrogance range, which is subtly contemplated through the wine bottle and not trivially from the outside. The eye of the artist who created this image knew how to look deeply, turning the non-form of wine into a work of art.

VOX DEI

The range name "Vox Dei" means "Voice of the Gods" in Latin, and the association of this name with the wines of the Tamaioasa Romaneasca range suggests a tribute to the exceptional quality and character of these wines. Tamaioasa Romaneasca is an indigenous variety that is distinguished by a richness of flavors, including floral notes, tropical fruits and sometimes a hint of honey.

HERITAGE

The stylised hoopoe on the label have been inlaid in the mosaic of the tasting room at Domeniile Franco-Romane since 2000, when burgundian winemaker Denis Thomas set up the first organic vineyard in Romania, in Dealu Mare. After the 2020 merger with Domeniile Persu-Eminescu, the hoopoe becomes the symbol of this range.

DFR

The symbols of “Little Paris” - the name by which Bucharest was known at the end of the 19th century - can be found on the labels of the DFR range, the new acronym of “Domeniilor Franco-Romane” after the 2020 merger with “Domeniile Persu-Eminescu”. The Francophone descent of the Dealu Mare winery began in 2000, when the first organic vineyard in Romania was established.

RENDEZ-VOUS

She and he flirt, with a glass of wine in front of them, in a café in the Old Town. The city? There can be so many... Year? Imagine any moment in time... An ageless love rendez-vous, a new love story whose ending we don't know yet. Until fate decides whether the two will stay together, or life will tear them apart, they savour the moment. Had he been a contemporary of the lovers, the Roman poet Horace would have described the scene exactly with his famous aphorism: “Carpe diem”. So, for those who are doubtful about tomorrow, we urge them to live today to the fullest, with a glass of Rendez-Vous on the table!
